Kerby drew the inference that the Lawler draft had been adopted by the President essentially as his own; that Mr. Ballinger and his legal advisor had therefore virtually prepared the exoneration which Mr. Taft had issued over his own elemeture.

Almost simultaneously with the publication of the Kerby, statement, Atty Gen. Wickersham sent to the Ballinge. Pinchot Investigating Committee, then in session, a copy of the Lawier draft, accompanied by a letter to Chairman Nelson, in which Mr. Wickersham declared the document had been overlooked in sending the papers requisitioned by the committee at the request of Attorney Brandels.

The publication of the Kerby statement evoked from the White House a statement declaring that there was "absolutely no foundation for the statement" that the President's letter of September 13, 1909, was substantially prepared for the President's signature by Asst. Atty.-Gen. Lawler, and asserting unequivocally that "the President dictated his letter, personally, as the result of his own investigation of the records and the consideration of decunents and papers in his possession at he time and upon the report of the kitorney-General."

It was further pointed out, both at the White House and by Atty. Gen Wickersham himself, that a compari-son of the Lawier draft and the Presi-dent's letter would show that 'the in-LONDON, May 14-1Enchastes Dispatch.] Florence Nightingsie, heroing of the Crimean War, entered her ninety-first year on Thirtedity. At her house in South street, Park lane, a telegram of congratulation was received from the King, which read: "On the occasion of your ninety-first birthday I offer you my heartfelt congratulations, and trust you are in good health."

Miss Nightingsie's health gives rise to no actual anxiety, but she can now do very little for herself, and needs unremitting care. Her intellect, unhappily, is so weak that even if the nurse told her of King Edward's death it is more than doubtful if she would understand.

Many bouquets were left at the house, and there was a constant stream of callers all day.

[ST DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS (Mo.) May 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Webster M. Samuels, known as one of Andrew Carnegie's, brilliant young men," shot himself through the right temple this morning at the home of his brother-in-law. Daniel E. Garrison, in despair because the efforts which had made him secretary of a large steel company when 16 years old, had also wrecked his health. He died a few minutes after dring the shot.

His wife, who was Miss Anna M. McClure, a society belle of Cleveland. O., was downstairs at breakfast with Garrison and his wife.

Samuels arose from bed, went into the bathroom and shot himself. Neurologists who were treating him had informed Samuels that he would eventually recover, but it might be three years before he could replenish the reservoirs of energy which he has sapped in the cause of amhitton.

Samuels began at the bottom in the Trenton Iron Works, at Trenton, N., one of Andrew Carnegie's foundries, when he was 20 years old. By desperate application and working day and night, he arose in six years to the secretaryship of the concern, and was aiming for a still higher position. For four more years he redoubled his efforts and when his ambitton seemed within his grasp, overtaxed nature colstapsed and he suffered a complete nervous breakdown.

Mr. Wickersham wrote Mr. Parker that the resolution seemed to be an inquiry into details of intercourse between the Attorney-General and the President, which it would be neither read:

"And if not that it may be squarely, emphatically and publicly refuted."
Here the similarity ends.

The President in his letter speaks of the inference which Glavis seeks to draw to Ballinger's discredit that while he was Commissioner of the Land Office, he "came into possession of facts concerning the so-called Cunningham group of coal lands claims which made it improper for yos to use such facts after your resignation in the course of securing patents." inquiry into details of intercourse be-tween the Attorney-General and the President, which it would be neither competent nor seemly for either House to attempt.

The leaders profess the greatest confidence of winning the fight to make Oregon dry, which is growing hotter every day. It promises to be an important issue in the political battle which will end November 8, next, when the final election is to be held.

A committee of fifteen members, representing the Anti-Saloon League, the Women's Christian Temperance Union and the Prohibition party, is handling the campaign. It is proposed to amend the State legislation so it will prohibit the manufacture, sale and giving away of intoxicating liquors, except for medicinal, sacramental, scientific and mechanical purposes.

"I have no hesitancy in saying, with the knowledge of the system employed, which I had already in my possession, and in view of the verdict in the Morris case," said Mr. Cameron, "that bribery was also resorted to in freeing Walter H. Moore, president of the Wrecked Oregon Savings Bank, of the charge of embezzlement. The intimation made by Judge Sweek and Attorney Fouts that they are the victims of a big conspiracy to defame them and damage their financial interests is in my opinion all bosh.

"The grand jury adjourned last Wednesday, subject to call. I intend to call its members together next week and at that time will lay before them the confession of young Guilford and all the corroborative evidence which detectives Craddock and Mallett have procured."

Mrs. Hughes carries with her to Los Angeles a marriage certificate and other evidences of her marriage to Hughes. It was on February 25, 1908, that Hughes married Miss Clara Kuper, a well-known young woman of Mount Angel, where her parents are old-time residents. The wedding was performed by Father O'Hara, at St. Mary's Cathedral.

Hughes, it is alleged, dragged his bride from place to place and finally, when he left the City there were many who regretted his departure, not from feelings of great friendship, but because they had made him loans in vacations.

today with the presentation of the Greek tragedy, Oedipus Tyrannus, in the English translation. The play was presented on the stage of the university's outdoor Greek Theater before an audience which packed the immense amphitheater. One hundred actors were on tne stage. Miss Leigh Stafford, in the role of Jocasta, being the only woman among them.

Adhering closely to the old Greek distom no scenery was used in the play, the effect being secured by the richness of costumes and the individual work of the actors.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

TACOMA (Wash.) May 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Robert Legg, a misanthrope, who has been living in a shack at New Westminster for several years, and laboring around the city, died yesterday after months of suffering caused by freezing and neglect to obtain proper medical attention.

His condition has been known by the city health officials, who have endeavored to have him removed to one of the hospitals, as did also the city police, but on hearing the cost of his attendance there would be $1.50 a day, he refused to go and died as he liyed, in wretchedness, privation and filth. About all that is known of Legg is that he is a miser and hoarded his money to such an extent that he refused to purchase food and give his body the necessary attention. He is known to be worth about $25,000, having a large amount of his money loaned out on mortgages and a considerable amount in the bank.

Of all these tortures I am now delivered through Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. After using it for one week only I found relief and now I am free of my sufferings and in the best of health.—Carl Reiche, Chase

In a recent interview, Mrs. Reiche said: "During Christmas holidays I felt very ill in my stomach. My husband wanted to call a doctor, but I thought of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. I took a teaspoonful in a little water and it was not more than a half hour when I felt a little better. After taking a few teaspoonfuls more I had some appetite and I improved steadily. Now I am perfectly well. It is my opinion that this medicinal whiskey is incomparable."—Mrs. Carl Reiche, Chase City, Va.

in Foreign Countries.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, May 14—Conditions of crops in foreign countries as reported to the Department of Agriculture and published today, are summarized in the May crop report as follows:

"During the last month agricultural operations appropriate to the season have been carried on in the principal foreign grain producing countries with customary activity.

"Wheat seeding and corn gathering have been in progress in Argentina and Australia and wheat harvest in British India; while over the vast agricultural areas of Europe and North America energies have been centered upon planting the spring crop. The Argentine corn harvest a month late because of wet weather is spoken of as yielding a bumper crop of not altogether satisfactory quality. In British India wheat is reported to be giving good yields from an introased area.

"In Europe, with winter cereals a month nearer maturity, the fine propects of a month ago have, on the whole, been pretty well maintained.

"Great damage to fruit prospects, especially the early flowering varieties, and to spring vegetation, was reported from many countries. Winter cereals, however, seem in general to have suffered little prejudice, the effect of the unseasonable weather having been simply to retard their growth.

"If there is any deterioration in the cereal prospects of Europe, it is apparently limited to the west—to England, France and Spain."

SUGAR RATE WAR.

NEW YORK, May 1s.—Announcement was made here resterday that the sugar rate war, which has been going on for more than six months among eastern, western and southern trunk lines, has been amicably settled. The sugar rate fight was started last November by the Illinois Central, when it reduced its tariff on sugar from New Orleans to the Central Freight Association's territory—Ohlo, Indiana, etc.—4 cents per 100 pounds. The eastern roads met this with a cut of $ cents per 100 pounds.

The Illinois Central cut, which started the fight, was made to the American Sugar Refining Company, which wanted to move the products of its refinery at Chalmette, near New Orleans.

JAPANESE IN HIDING.

LYONS (Col.) May 14.—Genkyo Mitisunga, the Japanese suspected of having murdered Mrs. Catherine Wilson in Denver, spent all of yesterday cowering beneath a pavillon in a pleasure park on the outskirts of Lyons, with Sheriffs and possemen and Denver detectives passing back and forth near his hiding place.

This was the startling discovery made by officials last night. Peelings of bananas, an empty can of beans, an empty milk bottle, a Jap-

Beginning tomorrow, we inaugurate a Great Demonstration Week at all "Owl" Stores. Hundreds of Specials—real "Owl" Specials—all on sale for the entire week. It is a demonstration of the "Owl's" great merchandising power, which proves that we dominate the drug business in Los Angeles. Don't be misled by the ranting of imaginary rivals who claim to meet "Owl" prices—there is nothing doing. Phrases like "The Drug Store That Saves You Money"—"We Are Never Undersold"—"More for Less"—"We Will Meet Any Price"—and all gush of this stamp, are misstatements, every one. They prove themselves so when you put them to the test. Look through this advertisement. Note that it is not made up of just a few weak, pindling specials on unknown goods. Every item is a special—and the real thing.

local grounds. The members of both teams hammered the ball to all corners of the lot. Vermon getting seventeen hits, with Sacramento tagging along with sixteen bingles. The Senators grabbed four tailles in the first inning, when Jesse Stovall went aëronauting. Stovall walked two, bit one, had a wild pitch, and was stung for four hits, one being a double by Boardman.

Brackenridge relieved Stovall at this juncture, stopping the slaughter. Sacramento gained a taily in the third inning, when Van Buren made the circuit on a fielder's choice and a brace of singles.

Vernon went after Nourse in the fifth imming, and before the smoke cleared had gathered seven runs. Nourse allowed the first three men who faced him to single, and with the bases full he was yanked out, Hunt going in. The big southpaw walked the first man that faced him, forcing a run, and then allowed a two-bagger and three singles, which netted Vernon a total of seven runs.

The Hoganites laid off in the sixth, but in the seventh made two more runs on singles by Roy Brashear, Coy and Brown. In the ninth, four more of Hogan's band tallied, Carlisle, Roy Brashear and Coy getting doubles, while Fisher and Brown singled. Sacramento made three runs in the ninth, but that was as close as they got to their hard-hitting opponents. Score:

Miss Kanka broke the record set by Miss Fritz, the world's champion, last year in Pasadena by writing 191 words per minute of memorized work. Averaging her entire demonstration which included dictation to the machine, copy of new matter and the writing of a familiar sentence, she wrote 155 words per minute for seven minute test. The tests written were all without error, and as Miss Kanka only completed her school work about six months ago her friends are confident she will be the world's champion in a very short time. In Miss Kanka's party was Mr. William Allen Dyer, general manager of the Smith Premier Typewriting company; Mr. E. M. TUMOR GROWING 20 TEARS.

"I feel it my duty to pen you a few lines letting you know what a godsend Liquocide has been to me. I used it steady fo over a year, and the ointment only a few times before I got rid of the growth on my abdomen, which has been growing larger and more troublesome for many doctors had told me it was everything but the right thing, and I had thrown away hundreds of dollars with them. I used your aslive, which softened and made an opening to work out the pus inside. I am still taking Liquocide and sell everyone of my acquaint-ances what it has done for me. I cannot praise it too much." Yours truly, Mrs. C. W. Edgecomb. 18 Ward St. North Woburn, Mass., October 1, 1905.

Idquocide is not a mixture of drugs. It is a scientific product, and the formula is printed on the label of every bottle. The treatment is both local and internal. Countless cured ones know from experience that it does what nothing else can do. Its effects are so certain and so immediate that we issue a certificate of guarantee which covers a two moneba' test at our financial risk.

Don't treat skin troubles harmful and ineffective ways. If you are a sufferer, please send your name and address and ask for Book No. 38. We will send it and also our liberal guarantee certificate, which is free from technicalities and restrictions. Please send today; our offer places you under no obligations whatever. SHROUD YIELDS past, Chief of Police Galloway recently recommended the passing of an ordinance which would make it compulsory for hospitals to make a report to the police on all deaths/resulting from suicide or accident. The ordinance is still before, the City Council, but it is evidently sidetracked.

Prominent physicians say that there is no reason why a reputable institution should object to giving the police facts about deaths which occur there. The practice of making such reports has proven successful in European countries, and has blocked the work of abortionists as well as aiding in the prevention of crimes by polsoners.

The mysterious death of Mrs. Minnie Shopbell, who met with some mishap while a patient in the Hospital of the Good Samaritan, Friday night or early yesterday morning, was investigated last night by police detectives who worked on information given by citizens who believe that the Coroner has been deceived. A few facts which have leaked to the outside world indicate that her death resulted after she fell from a window or else made an attempt at suicide.

Circumstances relating to the death have been enshrouded in mysters by met with an accident before entering the hospital. The deputy coroner obtained his "facts" from some employed of the hospital. She was taken there to undergo an operation for a serious internal disorder. No bones were broken when she entered the place and there were no bruise marks on her. These must have been received while she was a patient supposed to be under the charge of capable nurses and attendants.

A MISTAKEN POLICY.

Police officers, newspapers, and private citizens have frequently complained of the peculiar code of ethics observed at the Hospital of the Good Samaritan. In emergencies and time of serious accidents inquiries have been answered with misleading statements or direct falsehoods.

Because this mistitution has frequently blocked police inquiries in the lates of fall to be a grand success. That it was so was testified by the gladsome faces of all, from Assessor Ed. W. Hopkins down to the youngest member of the months and building material.

THIS GUSHER IS A MARVEL.

Las Flores Canyon Flow Is cycle. Increasing Daily.

Ice Cold Water Comes from Long Way Off.

Thirty Acres of Oranges to Be Planted by City.

PASADENA, May 15.-The gusher PASADENA. May 15.—The gusher of pure spring water struck by the Las Flores Cañon Water Company about two months ago is increasing its flow every day. It is throwing over forty miner's inches, while the flow in other parts of the water basin on the mesa is decreasing. The gusher was struck at the end of a tunnel the company drilled back into the mountain in the Las Flores Cañon, which is the first small cañon west of Rublo.

t is considered by old-timers to be a most remarkable flow ever struck Southern California, and evidently water comes from a long way off, cause the point where the gusher is struck is back in the high moun-in, and there is no gulch or canon water basid until the head waters the San Gabriel River are reached the other side of the range. The ter is almost ice cold, and very re.

Since the ric1 strike has been made the stockholder in the company are very jubilant, and the price of their stock has moved up several points. The company at the present time ras only a small reservoir, and with the strong flow of water the consumption, even in this dry time, is not sufficient to keep the reservoir from running over all the time.

Several of the other companies are considering developing more water, in view of a dry summer. The North Pasadena company hopes to build autother large reservoir nearer the head of its system, to accommodate the users higher up and to keep the consumers supplied. The Lake Vineyard Company expects to nave to resort to pumps very soon. The Alhambra company is now busy deepening its wells, and expects to go to the foothills to develop a greater supply.

INSPECT CITY FARM.

Mayor Earley, accompanied by Prof. alph E. Smith and Prof. Ingram of the University of California, in charge the experimental farms at Whittier, ediands and Santa Monica, visited at City farm yesterday and put in the eater part of the day carefully expining the various soils as to fitness a growing orange trees. The small perlimental farm and nursery, lotted at the upper corner, is now dicted by Prof. Smith, who has placed at the upper corner, is now dicted by Prof. Smith, who has placed at Metcalf in charge. Several thouseds must be summer on a patch land farther down in the farm, syor Earley hopes to get thirty acres anted to oranges this year. Mr. etcalf has just' completed planting at amount to eucalyptus trees.

CITY MAKES DISCOVERY.

CITY MAKES DISCOVERY.

The recent agitation by the property holders of Orange Grove avenue for repaving and reparking that famous avenue, has led to the discovery that the city owns two feet of each side of the avenue which has been overlooked. At the time the avenue was paved and curbed many of the property owners had beautiful garden hedge fences around their property and begged the city not to compel them to tear out their shrubbery but allow the sidewalk to be placed two feet further into the street. In this way the city's property was forgotten and the property holders have claimed it. However the officials state the city will law claim to its rights although no radical action will be taken at the present time. The matter of repaying the street will be taken up at once. A committee of property owners has tarted a petition to have a nachteen committee of property owners has started a petition to have a parking of some eight to ten feet wide placed in the middle of the avenue for its entire length. If the city takes advantage of its recent discovery and utilizes the extra two feet on each side that will provide for four feet of parking. This, with an additional four feet, will make a beautiful grass plot down the center of the avenue and add greatly to the appearance of the avenue. This, however, would necessitate the rebuilding of the sidewalks which will be objected to by many property owners.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY. Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Jones celebrated their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary at their home, No. 92 Pepper street yesat their home, No. 22 Pepper street yesterday. Festivities were started early in the morning when a large number of congratulatory telegrams were receive! from eastern friends. Later in the day relatives and friends began coming. During the afternoon tea was served to the guests by Misses Fannie and Igna Howard. The punch bowl was presided over by Misses Margaret Spaulding, Helen and Louva Hurst and Virginia Lynch. During the evening a large reception was held.

One of the charming social events of yesterday was the reception given last night by Miss Virginia Pease at her home on Summitt avenue in honor of Miss Helen Best, who will be married to Prof. C. E. Barbour during the summer. Miss Pease was assisted in receiving by the members of the faculty of the Polytechnic Elementary School, of which Miss Best is a teacher. There were eighty guests present.

ANNUAL REUNION.

Fine Programme Given at Pomon. School of Music-Dean Norton Receives Degree.

CLAREMONT, May 14.—One of the finest musical programmes of the season was given this evening by Mrs. Ida Blakeslee of the facuity of the Pomona School of Music in Holmes Hall before a crowded house. She was assisted by Miss Hughes, also of the School of Music faculty, who sang the aris "Adieu Forets," from Tschaikowsky's "Joan of Arc." One of the numbers played by Mrs. Blakeslee was Liszt's "Benediction of God in the Solitude," which the composer referred to as his greatest masterpiece. The full programme included compositions of Beethoven, Schumann, Chopin, Strong, Salter and Saint-Saens.

Dean E. C. Norton of Pomona College has received the honorary degree of doctor of divinity from the Pacific Theological Seminary of Berkeley, where he was one of the commencement speakers last week. CLAREMONT, May 14.-One of the ALHAMBRA. May 14.—This community was affected today by the sudden death of S. W. Champion. He was at his office this morning and appeared to be in his usual state of health. Shortly after 2 o'clock this afternoon, while talking with relatives in the grounds surrounding his home, he was stricken with apoplexy and died immediately.

Mr. Champion, who was president of the Board of Trade, was highly respected by his neighbors of the San Gabriel Valley as well as by a host of friends in Wisconsin, where he was well known as a successful railroad manager. Mr. Champion was an Elk and a Knight of Pythias of thirty-five years' standing.

Shortage in the Monrovia-Duarte District is About Eighteen Per Cent.

MONROVIA, May 14.—Excepting Valencias, citrus shipments from the Duarte-Monrovia district will be completed about June 1. The exchange, which controls 80 per cent. of the acreage, has forwarded 340 cars of oranges and will ship twenty more, principally seeds and sweets. Its output is 100 carloads, or 20 per cent. less than in 1209. This percentage decrease will not rule for the entire district, as the crop shortage was greatest in seedlings, practically all of which are under exchange control. Threughout the district the shortage of ail varieties except Valencias is about 18 per cent. The latter yield will be greater than in 1209, but will not bring the season's output up to that of last year. No date has been set for beginning Valencia shipments, but it is believed that market conditions will warrant early harvesting.

For the 140,000 boxes sold exchange members have already been paid $125,-000. Second and final dividends yet to be declared will bring the net average returns per box for all grades to $1.25.

WHEN YOUR MEALS DISAGREE

It is certainly time to take immediate action if you would ward off a serious sick spell. It is positive proof of a weak stomach and de-ranged digestion and for which you cannot take a better medicine than Hostetter's Stomach Bitters; but remember this, the longer than Hostetter's Stomach Bitters; but remember this, the longer you put off giving the assistance needed by the digestive system the harder it is going to be to cure you. We know of hundreds of cases, taken in hand at the very beginning, in which a short course of the Bitters proved very efficacious. Therefore, be persuaded to get a bottle today from your druggist or dealer, and thus avoid all possible danger of a sick spell. It is a wonderful tonic and invigorant for overworked, nervous and run-down persons, and in cases of Poor Appetite, Bloating, Heartburn, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Costiveness and Malaria it is the best.

BEGINS CHURCH BUILDING. BEGINS CHURCH BUILDING.

During the present week the site has been staked out and excavation begun for the State Street Christian Church building. The edifice will be 65x50 feet, and will contain, besides a large auditorium, six Sunday-school rooms, a choir room, pastor's study, ladles' parior, etc. The location gives a frontage of 140 feet on Fifth street and 100 feet on State street, providing room for church and parsonage. Only the foundations will be constructed this spring, but early in September the building will be resumed and completed as quickly as possible. The structure is to cost $5000.

WILL BUILD ENTIRE SYSTEM.

Instead of constructing only a temporary water system for summer use, as was proposed, the City Trustees have decided to install as speedily as possible the complete municipal water system, and in the meantime improvements will be made in the old system by pumping out the settling basins of increased by pumping out the settling basins of increased by the city as a site for the permanent waterworks. WATER FOR STREET TREES.

The new Board of Trustees of El Centro is taking vigorous action on water questions which were a bone of contention for the old board. The Water Commissioner has been instructed to construct a system of laterals from the Orange canal, to be used in supplying water for irrigation of street trees. This will encourage the beautifying of a large area of the townsite by tree planting.

The El Centro public library has received 650 new volumes and has begun the circulation of books. Although scarcely yet in running order, the circulation of books has averaged fifteen volumes per day. The second lot of bids for the construction of the Carnegle Library will be opened soon. TO PREVENT DANDRUFF

This Home Remedy Keeps Scalp Clean and Hair Healthy

Clean and Hair Healthy

Dandruff is not always a forerunner of baldness, but if dandruff is permitted to remain on the scalp it affects the roots of the hair, making the hair dull in color, dry and likely to come out when combed or brushed.

Any good shampoo removes dandruff, but it will form again in a day or two if the scalp is not in a healthy condition. To give the scalp and hair health and vitality it is necessary to use a good hair tonic once or twice a week.

To make an excellent hair tonic at home, get from your druggist one ounce of beta quinol and one-half pint alcohol; mix with one-half pint warm water. If preferred, the ounce of beta quinol can be mixed with a pint of bay rum. It is the beta quinol that nourishes the hair follicles, and make the hair long, abundant and glossy.

BACK FROM CHICAGO COMES AL-LEGED CROOK.

Man Arrested in the Middle West on Charge of Having Passed Worth-less Checks About Here Is Brought to Los Angeles in Charge of Detect-ives and Lodged in the City Jall.

London A. Wincherley, alias James A. Woodbury, alias L. S. Critchell, wanted in this city on charges of passing worthless checks, arrived at the City Jail yesterday afternoon, in custody of Detective Joseph R. Ritch of the Los Angeles Police Department and Nick Harris, a private detective, who went to Chicago for the prisoner. Wincherley, or Woodbury, as he is more generally known, is to be tried specifically on a charge of defrauding a local jewelry company out of $255 with fictitious checks which he tendered in payment for a watch and a diamond ring he purchased there, the ring for himself and the watch for his young bride.

Wincherley was arrested at the Grand Pacific Hotel in Chicago, where he had registered as L. S. Critchell. Wincherley is also said to have, while in the employ of a local bank, tried to sell it to San Francisco capitalists.

for the Round-up.

Conservative Estimate Puts a Close Race on.

Population 460,000

Los Angeles County

PROMISES WORLD'S WONDER TO CITY AS RESULT.

Optimistic estimates made of the canvass. He feels certain that few persons have been overlooked, in the city. Out of more than 3000 names of persons, who supposedly had not been counted, it was found that only a few hundred had been missed. Farmer is certain that less than 1 per cent of the inhabitants of Los Angeles county will fall of enumeration.

inhabitants of Los Angeles county will fall of enumeration.

The tabulated enumeration of cities having a population of more than 350 in 1900, only mentioned Los Angeles, Pasadena, Pomona and Santa Monten. Pasadena had only 9117 inhabitant then. Long Beach was not mentioned. Each of these two cities now has a large population. While the enthusiastic estimates of boosters may not be reached, it is certain that every city in the county will make a good showing in the forthcoming announcement of official populations of cities.

CONSERVATIVE ESTIMATE.

Four millions for municipal park improvement is the total Charles Silent, a member of the Mayor's Park Comission, declared is necessary to carry out a progressive and proper scheme of development. His estimate was given in an address to the City Clubyesterday on "City Parks."

Of this total, he would use about one-half fitting Elysian Park for world in the park should be parked that when the water of Owens River reaches the city the aqueduct management can wipe out twelve millions of water debt by a tax on the agricultural land benefited. This would permit the creation of the park shows for it. We have a ten-story city," said Silent, "builded courageously and handsomely, but we have sport 31,200,000 in the past ten years and have nothing to show for it. We have drawn on the whole world for our population and the world. Elysian Park should be plength on the past ten years and have nothing to show for it. We have drawn on the whole world for our park bount and more of a reasonable amount of money, have in our parks one of the park should be planted with diversified as forest trees and a big grove of black walnut would present an annual fall (Continued on Second Page.)

WHO WILL CONCOCT A NEW DISH TO MAKE LOS ANGELES FAMOUS?

With All Our Talent and Opportunities We Have Nothing Distinctive—Best Food Consumed Here.

MANTED: A DISH that will make Los Angeles and California distinctive in the science of cookery. New York has the meat pie, Boston feeds you baked beans, New Orleans serves chicken gumbo, Memphis scorches the human palate with a dish called "chili mack," which is not to be sneezed at, although its originality was perhaps borrowed from Sunny Italy and the Land of Montezuma, but Los Angeles with French chefs and limitless markets of meats, fruits, vegetables and what not at all seasons, has so far failed to produce even a salad to lend it conspicuity in the culinary art.

Indian meal pudding and other homely dainties suggest New England; Virginia has its corn "pone;" Arkansas would starve." or thinks it would-without its "sidlin' o' hawg," and California restaurants offer all these things to cater to the taste of the mixed population but there are no California dishes unless the fiery compounds of chile and other burnings which were captured

As there is no cooking "like mother's" so there can be no real appreciation of State or local dishes except they be partaken on the soil which gave them birth, and a niche in the Hall of Fame awaits the one who will concoct an original California dish indigenous to the country; and it ought to originate in Los Angeles.

Some of the Many Local Taste-tempters of Other Nationalities.

DON'T LIKE COARSE CUTS.

Poorer classes of people here have more daintiness of palate and contempt for coarse and homely fare than the same sort of people elsewhere.

Butchers and market men have complained that until the recent skyrocket performances of meat prices they could not find customers for the coarser cuts of meat; there are no people whose fastidiousness is so blunted by hunger that they will take the profuse waste of hotel tables, by which is meant the offerings after the larger eating places have been supplied.

There is even haughty disdain for the lower grades of flour and steaks off the round. If a few pleces of coin stand between the Aageleño and beggary, he must have his sirioin today, let tomorrow look out for itself, in many cases, despite high prices.

NUMEROUS AND CHEAP.

NUMEROUS AND CHEAP. The restaurants are numerous, cheap and inviting, and abundant provision and inviting, and abundant provision is made, particularly in cafeterias, for him, whose taste or appetite is fickle and purse siender. But even the cheap must be good and appetizing, for he who has the wherewith to pay for anything will pay only for one of the numerous grades of the best.

The "old stager" in a California restaurant can pick out a newcomer as easily as the '49'er could spot a tenderfoot, because he invariably selects filling food; that is, he chooses his meal with more regard to the practical end than epicurean taste. But not for long does he do this. It may be in the atmosphere or elsewhere, this recklessness in the matter of food economy, but whatever is responsible, the newcomer will shortly develop a fancy for the lighter and "Frenchier" foods that appeal to the palate of the "regular."

THE COST OF SUPPORT. "When the large number of unmar-ried persons about town are taken into account, it is easy to explain the ex-istence of so many eating places," a cafeteria manager explained yes-terday. "They must be fed, and as they are not in a position to minister to their own wants, some one must do it for them-and the eating places are the natural result.

"Of course, it means business to us, but the Los Angeles homes unbuilt and the comfortless lives that are bassed in unsatisfactory public eating places—and few are ever satisfactory—

NOT ALL ARE SINGLE.

While the bulk of restaurant patrons are unmarried, not a few childless couples live in lodgings and have their food brought to them in that stage of staleness which justifies "cold victuals." Other families prefer to go to the restaurants. A quaint economic theory sometimes sends a husband and wife to the cafeterias, Not infrequently the restaurant habitue encounters a family of six or seven marshaled in by the head of the household. They generally frequent places that have separate dining-rooms, but not infrequently visit the cafeterias also.

FRENCH COOKING POPULAR.

FRENCH COOKING POPULAR.

FLAVOR OF MANY LANDS. FLAVOR OF MANY LANDS.
But French is not the only foreign flavor that has been transported to California. The flavors of many nationalities are everywhere noted. Germany has several restaurants—not especially distinctive but decidedly Germanesque. There are several Italian Chinese houses of refection in Los Angeles are elaborate, and John is so-cial and cheerful in his habits. He cial and cheerful in his habits. He selges every possible occasion for a feast, and the restaurants of Chinatown frequently blaze with light. Chinese eating places are usually a rambling series of rooms, which the ingenious fancy of the imported carpenter has given oriental appearance by cutting large circular openings for exit and entrance, dispensing with doors, hanging gaudy scrolls of gided, painted and lettered paper about, and sometimes fitting up a carpeted platform whereon he who is so disposed may smoke during his interval of repast, or from which musiciants discourse most execuble sounds—siamming, banging, walling and groaning—during the progress of a dinner ceremony.

graphs, it is something in the unhome-like manner of life that is favorable to the growth of French habits, said the proprietor of a popular downtown cafe, when asked the reason French cooking is popular.

"If you want to study cause and effect, it might be said that our perennial season of fruits and flowers is not all suggestive of the frugal or more substantial dinners of the older States. Back where I came from baked beans, garnished with crisped pork and brown bread are counted as beyond all price, and feeble imitations of these local feasts are frequently folsted here, but they don't thrive after transplanting, for there is some thing incongruous in associating these dainties with the lavish profusion of California fruits and fishes.

"We may have the roast spare rib, pumpkin pie and baked beans of New England in a Los Angeles restaurant in December, but strawbearters, roses and mushrooms will impertinently intrude on this offspring of a colder lime; a reckless wealth of melons, grapes, oranges and figs and Christmas daisies will somewhat put to the blush the sturdier vignas."

Machinery Exhibit to Be Held Here Soon.

Stationary Engineers Are to Have Charge.

Plans Announced for Their State Convention.

The first exclusive machinery exhibit in Los Angeles will be held from Monday to Saturday of next week under the auspices of the local branch of the National Association of Stationary Engineers. At the same time the State convention of engineers belonging to this organization will be held. Sixty delegates are expected.

The national association had its inception in this city June 12, 1894, and started with thirtees members. F. J. Fischer, who on September 13, 1998, was elected national president of the Los Angeles society. The chief purpose of the association is the further education of stationary engineers in their work, and the keeping abreast with the times on new inventions.

With this object in view the proposed machinery exhibit will be held. The fourth floor of the Hamburger building has been given over to the engineers and booths to the number of 100 are being erected as fast as possible. Ninety-five of these booths have already been engaged by the various machinery manufacturers or dealers of Los Angeles.

Among the exhibits will be gas engines of almost every type, a model oil well drilling outfit, a large display of different electrical machinery, motors, transformers, switches, small plants in complete operation; pumps, packings, automatic telephones, tools of many kinds and no end of other things pretaining to the business of mechanics.

FORMAL OPENING.

The formal opening of the exhibit will take place at 8 o'clock, Monday evening, the 2576 inst. Mayor Alexander will welcome the delegates who are expected to arrive on that day. He will be introduced by National President Fischer. State President Puyster will also speak. The exhibit hall will after that be open to the public free of charge from 10 o'clock in the morning to 10 o'clock at night.

The State convention will open at 8 o'clock on Tuesday morning in the banquet hall of the Angelus Hotel, which will be headquarters for the visiting engineers. The routine business of the year will be taken up at that time. On the following day there will be no seasion of engineers but a trip around the "Balloon route" to Hollywood, Santa Monica and Redonde has been arranged. At Redonde Beach a luncheon will be served and the engineers will be taken through the plant of the Pacific Light & Power Company. A theater party has been arranged for the evening.

When the Maude Adams theatrical

When the Maude Adams theatrical company departed last night, after a week's stay in Los Angeles, it carried a much-ruffled and indignant leading man.—Richard Bennett.

Bennett, instead of spending the last days of the week renewing old acquaintances here, devoted his time to consultations with detectives over the theft of a number of his garments.

The robbery occurred Thursday night or Friday morning. In the play, "What Every Woman Knows," Bennett wore a handsome business suit of English manufacture, in the last act.

signed a contract yesterday with Arthur S. Bent, a local power and water contractor, for increasing the size and strength of the Sweetwater dam back of San Diego. The contract calls for the expenditure of $150,000 in raising the heighth of the dam fifteen feet. To do this a concrete structure, from bed rock up, must be built in front of the old dam. This structure will be of reinforced concrete, will be twenty-seven feet thick at the bottom and will extend 300 feet across the bed or the cafon and reach to a height of the stafon and reach to a height of the stafon and reach to a height of fully 29,000 cubic yards of cyclopean concrete.

The building of this structure will require 15,000 barrels of cement and will mean in the end the placing of fully 29,000 cubic yards of cyclopean concrete.

When the work is complete the dam will hold enough water to supply San Diego through a number of dry years without danger of a shortage.

The work is expected to be finished by January I, and will be built under the direction of Englineer J. D. Scuyler, known as the originator of this dam and for his work on the Panama Canal.

The Sweetwater dam, even without the new addition, is famous in engineering circles and has been visited by hundreds of engineers.

Behind it, stored to a depth of from sixty to eighty feet, is water a full half mile in width by fully six miles in length. The addition planned will materially increase this impounded supply and is expected to prove when complete one of the greatest water ponservation schemes in the West.

Mr. Bent leaves for Colorade today. On his return from visiting work which he has under construction in that State he will immediately begin the work of building near fan Diego.

FROM AUTHENTIC WORKS OF MR. JOHN DOE WORKS.

His Signed Denuncitions of Roosevelt and the Lincoln-Roosevelt League.

Two YEARS ago John D. Works expressed the belief that there were many leaders of the Lincoln-Roosevelt League who, under the cloak of reform, were seeking political preferment on a platform in which they did not personally believe. He seems to have been correct in that opinion. At that time he considered President Roosevelt a dangerous man. Herein he was wrong. When he saw the chance for a United States Senatorship, Works became an entintsiastic Roosevelt League Republican.

Mr. Works became an entintsiastic Roosevelt League Republican.

Mr. Works has placed himself squarely on record as to the man under whose leadership he has become a candidate. No one who read his article in the Arena of February, 1903, would have suspected that the writer two years later would be posing as a Roosevelt Republican. But, as Mr. Works said before he became a candidate in The people are growing restive velt President. Still again we quote from Works' signed article in the Arena;

"The people are growing restive under the present party domination of politics for personal ends and selfish purposes.—The former close adherence to political parties is fast giving way to a spirit of independence in political affairs that gives promise of better things. Perhaps nothing has contributed more to this spirit of independence than the unwarranted and arbitrary domination of every department of the government by the one man above all others who, while he occupies his present position should stand for the fearless and independent action of every department and every officer, in the interest of the whole country uninfluenced by public prejudice or clamor, party dictation, or presidential domination or influence. In this respect President Ropsevelt has signally falled."
Taking Works's statements two years

wo years ago John D. Works expressed the belief that there were many leaders of the Lincoln-Rocsevelt League who, under the cloak of reform, were seeking political preferment on a platform in which they did not personally believe. He seems to have been correct in that opinion. At that time he considered President Roosevelt a dangerous man. Herein he was wrong. When he saw the chance for a United States Senatorship, Works became an entintiastic Roosevelt League Republican.

Mr. Works has placed himself squarely on record as to the man under whose leadership he has become a candidate. No one who read his article in the Arena of February, 1908, would have suspected that the writer two years later would be posing as a Roosevelt Republican. But, as Mr. Works said before he became a candidate, there's a difference between looking at the plum tree from outside the fence and being within when the plums are shaken down. This was Mr. Works's view two years ago, quoted verbatim from the Arena:

"The writer is a Republican, and in the main believes in its principles, but is without sympathy for the effort to place the party above the country, and turn the government into a political machine, or the use of it for personal or political advantage. There has been altogether too much of this during the present administration, Therefore it may be taken as fortunate for the country that Mr. Roosevelt pfedged himself not to be a candidate for a third term? Does Works anticipate that he will be able to rid the Republican party of this dangerous Roosevelt League an organization for the purpose of securing offices for the anti-Roosevelt men? It's a paradox whichever way you take it.

"The course taken by the President," says Works again in this ing offices for the anti-Roosevelt men? It's a paradox whichever way you take it.

"The course taken by the President," says Works again in this same article, "is a species of imperialism and misuse of his great office and calculated to bring him into public disfavor and lower the office of President of the United States in the estimation, not only of our own people, but of foreign countries."

It may be that prophecy is not one of the important qualifications for a Senator. But certainly a man who expresses the belief that the leader of his party is bringing himself into disgrace abroad is in a poor position to defend his judgment on political matters when the same leader is just returning from the most triumphal tour abroad that has ever been made by an American. Mr. Works does not believe in being the same kind of a Roosevelt Republican that Roosevelt Imposition of the Crying evil of the day in official life," is too much politica, too much selfish striving for political office and preferment. What the country needs, most of all, is a broad-minded, unselfish, patriotic statesmanship, and a President of the United States, who stoops to accomplish his purposes by pandering to this debasing appetite for the spoils of office, however worthy those purposes may be, is an enemy to our Republican Institutions and the abetter of the most unworthy and dangerous tendencies in public life."

A soological garden ought to be given to the parks, probably to Elysian, by some of the rich citigens, and it ought to cost $500.

probably to Eiysian, by some of the rich citizens, and it ought to cost $500,100.

Everywhere in Griffith and Elysian parks waterfalls and small lakes should be constructed and supplied by the Owens River water. This water could serve its purpose in the parks and then be conserved and turned back to the water board for agricultural user with only a small loss.

Sygmore Grove, a natural gateway to the Arroyo Soco Park, should be enlarged and its calls and sycamores multiplied and the whole given a forest effect without the intrusion of incongruous feathers.

He would use Westlake Park as a monument to the men who are building the aqueduct. He pronounced the force under Mulholland and Chaffee comprises the best business machine ever constructed. Its work is unparalleled in efficiency and tremendous accomplishments. His idea of commemorating the heroes of this enterprise is to restore to the lake in Westlake Park its shore lines, now disfigured by a concrete copping, enlarge its area, make an island of picturesque volcanic rock in the center and on this island erect the monument to the aqueduct generals and privates at a cost of not less than $150,000. The lake should be made pellucid with ever-flowing squeduct water, kept clesh, and itself be commemorative of the water exploit. If this is done he believes Los Angeles would have an asset that would be a tremendous factor in carrying it to the greatness and population that is in reach.

"But you might say, 'Why don't you

He said the commission can not hire men it wants and cannot dismiss those it does not need. He told of the five watchmen that were dismissed because they were not only useless, but incompetent. As a result, the Civil Service a Commission has commanded the board to reinstate the men until the ordinance abolishing their positions goes into effect.

"We have not done it," said he, and was greeted with applaume, "We will campaign speccas that he and miscolleagues will give us a better Rooseveit administration than Mr. Rooseveit administration than Mr. Rooseveit administration than Mr. Rooseveit League to the Lincoln-Rooseveit League in the Arena in 1908:

"The success of the movement depends largely upon the willingness and ability of the management to free it from such influences. If they will not, or cannot do so, the uprising will amount to nothing. Its success would mean no more than the transfer of power in the party from one set of politicians to another of the same stripe. Such leaders, if they obtain control of the party, would soon find it to their personal advantage to submit to the wishes of the corporations and the temptation would not be resisted. MANY OF THE ACTIVE LEADERS AND WORKERS IN THE MOVEMENT FOR REFORM ARE READILY RECOGNIZED AS FORMER MACHINE POLITICIANS WHO WORE THE COLLAR OF THE RAILROADS WITHOUT SEEMING HESITATION. Naturally, this being so, their seal in the reform movement is attributed to other motives than that of purifying politics and freeing the State from corporation domination. They are apt to be looked upon as cast-off and DISAPPOINTED MACHINE POLITICIANS SEEKING THEIR OWN REVENGE AND PERSONAL ADVANTAGE RATHER THAN THE PUBLIC GOOD."

President Roosevelt has signally falled."
Taking Works's statements two years ago and his present position as a Roosevelt candidate we must conclude that the failures of Roosevelt have led the people to desire another Roosevelt administration with Mr. Roosevelt left out. Works must show us in his colleagues will give us a better Roosevelt administration than Mr. Roosevelt's.

It is well understood, we trust, that the sorrow in America is brought out by the fact that King Edward was a good man and a friend of peace and not because he was a king.

The State of Texas has passed a law imposing a fine of $5 on any person who uses profane language over a telephone. Texas will soon be the guage over a telephone. Texas will soon be the richest as well as the largest State in the Union.

THAT PICKETT PENCE.

HAI PICKETT FERCE.

We are glad Congress is lending such an open and attentive ear to the oil developers of California with regard to the probable effect of the Pickett bill pending before that body. There are very few members of Congress in either branch who know much about oil fields and their development. We are without any definite information as to the per-sonality of Mr. Pickett and only know him by the fences he is attempting to build around public lands supposed to contain oil deposits. He may be a perfectly honest man and he may be fairly well informed about the subject. On the contrary, it is not impossible that he may be in the employ of great oil interests which would hedge around the further development of the oil measures in order that they may be the only producers, may be able to control the oil market and supply all the demand. Fortunately, California has in both branches of Congress men who do know something about boil fields and their development. Of course, the Pickett pretense is in favor of the dear people and against monopolies. The California Congressmen know that there are multitudes of men in California who by their venturesome spirit and energy and at the expense of much capital have developed oil measexpense of much capital have developed oil measures the products of which are of the greatest benefit to all the people, not only of this State, but of the country. They also know that many of these developers went into the business very poor men and worked their way slowly up, step by step, from little things to great things, and that if they are millionaires they have honestly earned their millions by their energy and spirit of adventure.

There may possibly be oil lands still in possession

There may possibly be oil lands still in possession of the government which it would be well to protect from general exploitation. It may be that all the people have a common interest in this undevelthe people have a common interest in this undeveloped wealth and that those who shall be permitted to develop it should divide fairly with the rest of us. When we say divide fairly we are far from meaning that they should give half, or even a quarter, of all the oil they develop, or its value, to the public treasury. This would be utterly unfair unless the public stood behind them ready to bear a day proportion of the variance. due proportion of the expenses of experimenting which is followed by failure, as is often the case. To do this it would be necessary for the government to enter into partnership with those who develop the oil fields, and as for ourselves, we are wally opposed to any partnership in business en the government and any part of the people between the government and any part of the people, or to the government going into any kind of business on its own account, whether it be transportation, farming or mining.

These California delegates at Washington know that in this State, as elsewhere, in a general way this treasure of oil beneath the surface of the ground is connected through miles of territory, that railroads and other vast interests have accomined sections here and there dutting the public that railroads and other vast interests have ac-quired sections here and there dotting the public domain, that if the public lands are withdrawn for any length of time from experimentation and ex-ploitation, then these vast interests will get the oil not only from under their own holdings, but from under the public domain, too, thus creating a mo-nopoly and cheating the government, or rather the

TRY THE GROUND-HOG HOLE.

The millennium-producing bunch of politicians, who are working overtime (on double pay) to control the State, have a very large elephant on their hands. Twice they have thought they had found a stall for this inconvenient animal, but their calcu as have been sadly disappointed. He is no lations have been sadly disappointed. He is not only unbreken but unbreakable:

To vary our figures of speech a little bit, our Goo-Goo friends are badly obsessed by the incubus of a very jagged and badly-made peg which they are seeking in vain for a hole to fit. They tried him in the Council and put him in the president's chair, but he was so conspicuous and ridiculous a misfit that he had to be coaxed out by dangling before his eyes a Senatorial toga. The bait worked; the president's chair in the Council was promptly the president's chair in the Council was promptly vacated and a great run "from Siskiyou to San Diego" and then "from the Sierras to the sea" was begun to secure for Works the toga now worn so fitly and gracefully by Hon. Frank P. Flint. But while John D. Works is out of his seat as president of the Council, he is not in his seat as United States Senator, and not likely to be.

The chair about to be vacated by Mr. Flint is on the Republican side of the chamber. The bunch behind Works (if they are behind him) bear the brand of "Lincoln-Roosevelt." John D. in his office of president of the Council was very much like an en-raged bovine in a crockery store. He was not only John D. Works, but he was the whole works, or wanted to be. There are other Goo-Goos in that body They wanted to have something to say, and Works wanted to have all the say. Hence their coaxing him out of the Council chamber. As an aspirant for the Senatorial chair, occupied by Mr. Flint, his un-Republican affiliations and notions marky him as utterly unfit for that position. His expressed views on former President Roosevelt show that the brand of the organization behind him cannot be worn by Works,

We have recerred to Mr. Works's published views on Roosevelt before. There is one thing about our friend John D. He has the courage of his confriend John D. He has the courage of his convictions. He is suspected of being somewhat of a socialist, and in this respect he is true to brand. Socialists generally speak their mind out in meeting, no matter who says nay. The trouble with this alleged statesman, so courageous in the expression of his convictions, is that the said convictions rest upon a foundation constructed of very rotten material and put together in an unworkmanlike manner with mud instead of mortar. His convictions about Rossevelt we have produced before, and in order that the people may not forget them or that they may not escape the eyes of any we call attention to them again. Would-be Senator Works's views of Rossevelt were published in tor Works's views of Roosevelt were published in the Arena Magazine in 1908. The Times quotes as

"What the country needs most of all is broad-minded, unselfish, patriotic statesmanship, and a President of the United States who stoops to accomplish his purposes by pandering to this debased appetite for the spoils of office, however worthy those purposes may be, is an enemy of our republican institutions and an abettor of the most unworthy and dangerous tendencies in public life."

"If report be true, President Roosevelt has denounced in unmeasured terms at least one Federal judge for differing with his views of the law and its enforcement. By so doing he has made it publicly known that all judges differing with his views will fall under his displeasure.

"This tendency of the President to denounce those who do not agree with him has led him into many indiscretions, and his arbitrary methods, his lack of restraint and determination to have his own way have made him a conspicuous example of the danger to our institutions of unchecked and uncontrolled power, intended to bring both the legislative and judicial departments into his way of thinking and thus accomplish his ends."

"If he sets his mind upon a certain course he throws caution, discretion, to the winds. It must be so in his estimation if he wills it to be so. If it is desired legislation, Congress must bend to his will. If it is a construction of an existing law, the judge must construe it his way or fall under his displeasure and meet with an open criticism and denunciation.

"His spectacular and intemperate attacks in public addresses upon those whom he believes or suspects of being guilty of violation of the law are undignified and unpatriotic and calculated to destroy public confidence in moneyed men and moneyed institutions. The course taken by President Roosevelt is a species of imperialism and misuse of his great office and calculated to bring him into public disfavor and lower the office of the President of the United States in the estimation not only of our own people, but of foreign countries."

No wonder the aggregation falsely claiming the right to be called the Lincoln-Roosevelt League, in view of the exposure of their Senatorial candidate's opinion of Col. Roosevelt made by The Times, are now as intent upon pulling him out of the race for Senator as they were before in coaxing him out of the Council charaber. What hook they will dangle before him this time is not a matter of public possession yet. Rumors are thick that the little clique session yet. Rumors are thick that the little clique of bosses who are financing and managing the Goo-Goo political campaign in the State find Works a T HE LONG ROAD AND SUNNY. 1 "It's a long road and sunny, it's a long road and old,

And the brown padres made it for the flocks of the fold—

And it stretched away from the blue waters of the bay of San Diego to the place where, long years after, the Bear Flag was raised at Sonoma. Seven hundred miles was the length of El Camino Real—the King's Highway. Seven hundred miles Down to the waters where the seagulls call."

Through many years of patient and persistent work El Camino Real Association of California has labored to keep distinct and unobliterated the old royal road that the Franciscans built in the old royal road that the Franciscans suit in past to connect their chain of twenty-one missions.

And the work of the association has been brilliantly successful. The road is today well marked and in many places mission bells have been erected.

and in many places mission bells have been erected. The work of placing these roadside bells will continue until they form a complete chain from Sonoma to San Diego.

In connection with the San Bernardino Centennial, El Camino Real Association proposes to erect a complete line of bells on that portion of the King's Highway which reaches from the old Plaza church in Los Angeles to the spot in the San Bernardino Velley where the Franciana decrease in the nardino Valley where the Franciscans drove, in the country of the Guachamas, the first stakes of civ-

Perhaps no more picturesque ceremony was ever erformed in California than this remarking the King's Highway will prove to be on Friday next. Bishop Conaty, himself an enthusiast in the early romance of California, will be the leading figure in the celebration. Accompanied by many successors of the brown-robed brothers, the bishop successors of the brown-robed browners, the bishop will set out from the Church of Our Lady of the Angels and traverse the old highway, as Padre Dumetz and his associates traveled it exactly a century ago. El Camino Real Association, composed of great-souled men and women, mainly of the Protestant faith, will be in charge of the cele bration, Bishop Conaty having practically placed himself under their direction. Hundreds of people outside of the Camino Real Association will also take part.

Aside from the romance that attaches to this ceremony, it is a good thing to do. The old missions and the King's Highway are commercial assets. They have brought untold thousands of tourists to California and will bring untold thousands more as the years go by. And the tourists mean money to us. Wherefore, if it be that we are mad, maybe there is a method in our madness. But let us take up the spirit of these things for the sake

TEACHING DOMESTIC SCIENCE.

Col. Roosevelt, in his address before the people of Berlin Thursday night, took occasion to preach his usual philosophy about the plain domestic virtues. He warned his audience, and indeed the world that unless the women of a nation were good house. wives and brought up their children properly the nation was in jeopardy. This is not a new theme at the hands of Roosevelt. Moreover, it is not only as old as Christianity, but as old as those portions of the Scriptures which reach back farthest toward

But old as the philosophy is, the present genera-But old as the philosophy is, the present generation is doing more toward practically following out its precepts than any generation before this time has done. For example, there is scheduled for a week or more next September in the city of New York one of the greatest domestic science expositions ever known in the world. A congress of all kinds of organizations is to meet in Madison Square Garden, and besides object lessons there will be no end of lectures and verbal expositions on the various branches of domestic science. This exposition will be under the auspices of the National Food Magazine and under the general patronage of the Associated Clubs of Domestic Science.

The United States government is interested and will put in three exhibits. The Commissary-General of the army will install one, showing camp life as led by the soldiers. There will be a garrison kitchen and everything to indicate just how the soldiers are fed, the kind of food and the various soldiers are fed, the kind of food and the various amounts in a soldier's ration. There will be another exhibition by the Bureau of Animal Industry which will show examples of meat in refrigerators. There will be many photographs and alides and moving pictures showing what government inspection has done in this branch of domestic science. The third exhibit by the government will show the

The Associated Clubs of Domestic Science is arranging a comprehensive series of lectures. The whole field of household economics will be covered, including household arts, dietetics, the nutritive value of various foods, and the evolution of the whole food industry from wheat fields to toast. The microscopical world of microbes will be exhibited with illuminating lectures upon this subject. As the programme before us says, "the programme is to be of infinite variety, ranging from cooking lessons to psychological dissertations on child culture." The most noted students of domestic economy in all its various phases have been secured as speakers for this week.

Household economics is of all the sciences the most practical and the most important to the world in a mass. There is more poverty among mankind as the result of ignorance and carelessness in housekeeping than arises from any other single cause. Unfortunately, it is among persons who can least afford to be wasteful where wastefulness is least afford to be wasteful where wastefulness is most prevalent. It comes very largely from lack of knowledge. In America we, are particularly backward in our knowledge of household economics. We are speaking now of the plainer classes of citizens. In older countries they have learned in their own practical experience certain processes of cooking which enable the plain people to live better than ours at lower cost.

AN ENDOWED NEWSPAPER?

Is there an opportunity in the United States for an endowed newspaper? Is there a demand for for an endowed newspaper? Is there a demand for such a newspaper? The Times of today prints a readable symposium compiled by the Publishers' Press, treating these questions—called out by the report, afterwards denied, that Mr. Carnegie was considering the propriety of establishing such a journal, as well as by recent strictures on the American press from the reckless pen of an intemjournal, as well as by recent strictures on the American press from the reckless pen of an intemperate and unendowed magazine writer, named Ross.

Some twenty of the leading editors and publishers of the country contribute to this symposium. They are: Victor Rosewater of the Omaha Bee, Henry Watterson of the Louisville Courier-Journal, John A. Sleicher of Leslie's Weekly, George Thompson of the St. Paul Pioneer-Press and St. Paul Dispatch, Milton B. Ochs of the Nashville American, Charles R. Williams of the Indianapolis News, John E. Wright of the St. Louis Times, Daniel R. Anthony, Jr., of the Leavenworth Times, Edward H. Butler of the Buffalo Evening News, Charles H. Grasty of the Baltimore Sun, W. R. Nelson of the Kansas City Star, Gilbert Hitchcock of the Omaha World-Herald, Lafayette Young of the Des Moines Capital, St. Clair McKelway of the Brooklyn Eagle, Joseph Daniels of the Raleigh News, G. F. Milton of the Knoxville Sentinel, W. M. Clemens of the Memphis News-Scimitar, W. E. Dargie of the Oakland-Tribune, and the editor of this journal.

These gentlemen express a diversity of opinlons. Some of them pooh-pooh at the idea; others discuss it seriously and at length; a few welcome the suggestion; most of them scout the possibility of success. The mental attitude of the average newspaper man, when the idea of an endowed or "kept" newspaper is presented to him, is hit off with delicious irony by Henry Watterson, who says:

"Such a newspaper, edited by doctors of divinity, sociology and news, would be hailed by a humorloving press as a contemporary rather than feared by corrupt publications as a competitor. Out with it at once! Let there be light! Let each reporter and editor be some one who has aired his views upon the viciousness and vapidity of newspapers published by newspaper men."

The journalists whose views have been called out by this symposium nearly all take occasion to provide more or less illumination for the ultra-censorium crities who waits

The journalists whose views have been called out by this symposium nearly all take occasion to provide more or less illumination for the ultra-censorious critics who would have a newspaper be everything but a newspaper. As a matter of fact, sincere and courageous newspaper conductors care little for a passing gust of popular passion or for a soon-spent outbreak of public criticism. Every fearless editor will do what he conceives his full duty in the face of hostile attacks. The public rarely gets the viewpoint of editors themselves, because they cannot with journalistic or public propriety talk much about themselves; hence the pervading censoriousness. As a rule, readers are ignorant of "the faith that is in" the men who make the newspapers; as well as ignorant of the reasons, from the journalist's standpoint, for printing, or not printing, a lot of things both for printing, or not printing, a lot of things both outside of and within the domain of news proper, some of which is necessarily objectionable "stuff, yet not to be suppressed for that reason alone. Readers have a right to know "whatstook place in the world yesterday," both good and had. Remarks of $12.000 is provided. The board has already had one-half of this amount and the transfer approved will convey the remainder. The Board of Public Utilities has already spent $8500. Under the plan proposed by the Dromgold measure in the preceding Council the cost of advisory work would not have exceeded $5000. The board is to report during the next two weeks on the rates for gas, electric current and telephones as the ordinances must be passed before June 1 to have them effective by July 1, when the present rates expire. The delay of the board will give the Council little time to investigate the board's statements and it is hoped to railroad them through.

quoted to show that the questions were relevant. But little progress was made until the hour of adjournment, the witness not getting fairly started in her story.

She recalled the day Miss Helm called at the temple to see Dr. Price about the stock, and said the defendant had told her, in the presence of the complaining witness, that he (Price) proposed to let her in on a good thing, as a brother of Miss Helm in Kentucky, had once done him a great faas a brother of Miss Helm in Ken-tucky, had once done him a great fa-vor. Even Dr. Price smiled as the wit-ness detailed the line of gush he "handed out" to Miss Helm to induce her to invest her money in the stock of a corporation owning land along the American River, where the gold dust was piled up "like wheat in a bin."

This is the third action tried recently in the Superior Court involving Dr. Price and Miss Heim. The latter secured a judgment against Price in Judge Monroe's court for $1000, in a civil action, and in Judge James's court she recovered a verdict for $300, alleging slander on the part of Price, all connected with the transaction in which the criminal charge is involved. The courtroom is crowded with people interested in the case, a number having invested their cash in the elusive dream of wealth that never advanced beyond the speculative prospective stage. Dr. Price's defense will be that destruction of the big dredger by the floods caused the dissipation of the pipe dream, and that he should not be held responsible for an act of Providence. dead man.

Under the terms of the will left by Walker, his entire estate, valued at about $12,000, was left to Miss De Vall, who nursed him in his last illness. There was considerable talk at the time of a contest of the will, but members of the family of Walker being communicated with in England, said there was no desire on their part to make any trouble, and they were willing that Miss De Vall should have the estate. It is understood that Walker left a wife in England, but she was cared for by him before coming to California.

LOSE HEAVILY BY ROBBERIES.

RAILROADS

Many Freight Cars Looted While in Transit.

Daring Hobos Commit Most Depredations.

Peculiar Methods of Some Recent Operators.

Many millions of dollars worth of property is annually lost to the railroads of this country, through the pilfering operations direct from cars in transit, and including the loss due to goods damaged while in the custody of these transportation companies. This estimate was concurred in by several of the delegates who were in Los Angeles during the past week in attendance at the fourteenth annual convention of the Railway Association of Special Agents and Police of the United States and Canada.

In 1909 the Santa Fe's loss in this manner aggregated almost $2,000,000 on its lines between Albuquerque, N. M., and San Francisco. Other transcontinues were prey to a corresponding extent from similar depredations. Add to this average the longer reported by the eastern roads, and the aggregate with prepared to the propertatory of these thefts from the perpetratory of these thefts from reaches a vast sum.

There are many methods employed by the perpetrators of these thefts from the railroads, outside of those who draw good money for questionably damaged goods. One of the sleuths of the rails, who was discussing the robberies of freight cars, while reating in Hotel Rosslyn a few night ago, said:

beries of freight cars, while resting in Hotel Rosslyn a few night ago, said:

CLEWS THAT GROW.

"A small robbery may mean a whole lot more than appears upon the surface. It may lead to a great crime or a series of costly depredations. We have now in the Phoenix jail a negro who is suspected of recently wrecking a train on the Santa Fé. It appears that this fellow was detected beating his way over the road, and he was ditched. He swore vengeance and a few nights later a passenger train was threwn off the tracks, although fortunately nobody was hurt. The train wrecker had loosened the rails. Now it was a very trivial matter that led up to what might have been an appelling disaster with terrible loss of life. So it is in the stealing line. A hobo will break into a car and, not finding anything that particularly pleases his fancy, he will amuse himself by tossing articles out on the landscape. I recently heard of a railroad detactive who found a dozen boxes of costly corsets—worth from 34 a pair up—that had been stolen from a car near Bakersheid and thrown evidently in disayst by the thief, on top of an old freight car on a side not far from the hustfing oil city. Over in Arisona some hobo stole a sackful of siarm clocks from a car, and then he threw them to one side on the readbed where they were later found. It may be that the clocks began to locean up on their alarm, departments and scared the 'bo' sway, but the chances are he simply took the timepieces on the impulse to steal. When the average hobo has a chance to steal, take it from me that he will steal anything he can carry—from ice in winter to the rays off the sun in the pool old summertime.

DIDN'T LEAVE TRACKS.

DIDN'T LEAVE TRACKS.

"One of the shrewdest thieves that the Sants Fe operators had to run down this year, resided near Corons. A treight car arrived in Los Angeles why a barrel of whisky. The reports of agents showed that the car had passed over the line in good condition. So far as outward appearances went, the car reached Los Angeles intact. However, a little investigation revealed the fact that the car had been opened; the seal had been broken and neatly mended so that it would pass cursory inspection. And it was true that there was a barrel of figure missing.

"It didn't appear that anything weighing about 350 pounds, which was the weight of this cargo of spirits, could be removed from a freight car on a railroad without somebody being was to it, but just the same the detectives seen found that there was not the slightest clue to the disappearance. The closer the inquiry proceeded the deeper the mystery became. That barrel of whisky had disappeared as completely as Dr. Cook.

"Finally a special agent was sent out DIDN'T LEAVE TRACKS.

marks somewhere along the railroad line to indicate where it had been dumped out of the car. And of course they neven found any such indications, which had made the case all the more mysterious. But the bootlegger with too much of his own tea aboard, told with affected bravado of his sharp trick, and a day or two later he was arrested. He is now coing a four-year term in Folsom.

EVERY ACRE HIGH CLASS PROVEN OIL LAND

The development of the proven oil lands of this corporation, consisting of forty acres in the Northwest Quarter of the Southeast Quarter of Township 11, Range 24, in the heart of the Midway's richest section, will make this investment one of great profit and a good dividend payer.

REPORT OF UNITED STATES GEOLOGICAL SURVEY The report and maps of the United States Geological Survey, which are on file in our office, confirm the examination and report of our experience. the rich oil anticlines of the Midway field directly under our property.

SAFE LANDS AND CONSERVATIVE MANAGEMENT

The policy of this Corporation is to operate on absolutely proven oil lands rather than take long chances on a big acreage of doubtful territory. The present holdings of the corporation are among the most valuable oil lands of this State, and additional property now being closed upon is equally valuable and located directly in the gusher field. Announcement of this purchase will be made in a few days.

ADVANCE IN PRICE OF STOCK

By resolution of the Board of Directors it was ordered that a decided advance in the price of it's stock, and withdrawal of stock at 25 cents, be announced in today's Press, but delay in the receipt of papers in the purchase of our new tract of proven land will defer for a few days the announcement of advance in price and withdrawal of any portion of our first issue of Treasury Stock at 25 cents per share. We will accept subscriptions to the remaining issue of Treasury Stock at 25 cents per share, subject to return when issue is fully subscribed. Make investigation at once and secure for certain profits as large a block of this stock as you can carry.

EAD OF MULE GOES TO COURT.

CRUELTY CHARGE HINGES ON ANIMAL'S AGE.

Three Defendants Allege That the Quadruped Came to Its End by Senility-Constable Says Teeth Appear to Have Been in Service Many Years, But Can't Tell How Long.

will be the chief exhibit in Justice Summerfield's court when Martin Senterius, Sr., Martin Senterius, Jr., and G. Dagy are placed on trial on a charge of having been cruel to an animal. The three defendants declared they were not guilty when arraigned before the magistrate yesterday. He released them under $300 bonds each and set their hearing for June 10.

The men are ranchmen and are cultivating 600 acres near the Redondo Villa tract. They did not have enough animals to use in their spring plowing, and hired several mules from A. L. Love, a dealer, No. 326 Aliso street.

They declare that they took the animals back to Love when they had no further use for them, and that he insisted that they should pasture the mules. They remonstrated, but kept part of them. Later, one mule died.

They were charged with having killed the animal. It is alleged in the complaint that their abuse caused its death. Their defense is that the beast died of senility. In order to prove this fact, they intend to exhibit the head of the animal to the justice at their trial.

Constable Benjamin, who made the or the animal to the justice at their trial.

Constable Benjamin, who made the arrest, says that the teeth of the deceased animal appear to have been in service many years and that he would not venture to say how old the mule was at the time of its death.

The cause of demise will be one of the points on which the case will hinge. As there is no mule Coroner, no inquest has been held. If the magistrate is not satisfied by viewing the teeth that the creature was old enough to pass away, he may order the body shall be disinterred and an autopsy performed.

MINE DEVELOPMENTS ACROSS THE BORDER ARE EXTENSIVE.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

M EXICO CITY, May 12.—Notwithstanding the fact that some of the greatest copper mines in Mexico are doing only a nominal amount of development, and are producing tonnages far below their possibilities, on account of the low quotations; this republic remains second greatest in the world in point of output of the red metal.

Complete data for the year of 1908 show that the United States produced 490,310 gross tons of copper, and that the Onsolidated Mining Company at the Casados mine, in Hostotiuaquillo district, will be in commission before the end of this year and the rest of the plant will be hurried to completown with all possible hasts.

It was a great day for little Her-man Rabe, that day he walked to his grandmother's, nearly a block from his home.

True, he did not walk very fist, and there were more than one pair of tear-filled eyes watching him stealthily as he made his way along on his new crutches. Still, he walked, and that is what he had not done for six long, weary years—not since he was a baby of two years toddling about the house under his mother's feet.

THEY ALL KNOW HERMAN. THEY ALL KNOW HERMAN.

The whole neighborhood watched the little fellow take his first journey. Everybody who lives near the Rabe home at 933 Mariposa street, Denver, Colorado, knows little Herman Rabe, the crippled child of H. F. Rabe, meat cutter at the A. Peterson grocery at 607 Jason street, whose little legs have been shrunken since he was two years old. All the friends and neighbors know how, year after year, the father and mother have spent money trying to find something that would cure their child, and all in vair.

Orrine Does Cure DRUNKENNESS

This is a positive fact known to tens of thousands of wives and mothers of this land. They know Orrine is a reliable remedy for the cure of drunkenness, because it has restored their loved ones to lives of sobriety and usefulness. Every one of these women bought Orrine with full confidence that it would effect a cure or their money would be refunded to them if it falled. This guarantee is in each box. No other remedy for the cure of drunkenness is sold with this liberal guarantee, but Orrine has been so uniformly successful that the makers want the buyers to know that they have full protection if it should fail in any instance. We never publish letters of patients, but recently this letter came to us from Dr. Nolte, 8th and Race sts., Philadelphia, Pa. Read it and you will readily appreciate why Orrine is so well thought of:

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

W ASHINGTON, May 2.—The most vergal-looking woman of the diplomatic group in Washington is the lovely, fair-haired Countess de Buisseret, wire of the Minister from Belgium. She was an American girl, and one in whom Southern California and Washington were equally interested. Her father is Gen, John P. Story of Los Angeles; and Carrie Story, as she was called before her marriage, was one of the most popular army girls in Washington. She was veclomed with open arms last winter, when her husband, the Count, was sent to represent his country at our national capital.

The Count is a man of broad culture, and personal charm, with an easy cordiality of manner. At the recent celebration at the Carnegis Institute in Pittaburgh, when President Tart delivered an address Count de Buisseret was chosen for the other speaker, and his talk on the eatherts side of Belgium history, was a literary treat and a charming revelation of that country.

There are five sturdy little sons in the de Buisseret family and a baby girl has just been added to the group, Now, one would naturally suppose that the advent of this baby gaughter would be halled with delight, but truth to tell, in sylving the substance of his baby gaughter would be halled with delight, but truth to tell, in sylving the substance of his baby gaughter would be halled with delight, but the service of the fast auserole of fair Josephe de Buisseret Caroline Marie Josephe de Buisseret en fandere. Mountains, supplying the railroads' close-in oiling stations and distributing oil to other near-by customers would increase, rather than diminish, the efficiency and earning power of a through line to Arizona.

It is understood that all the companies and corporations, large and small, that are interested in oil as producers and consumers are coming to a very good understanding of their mutual interest in the stability and conservation of the oil markets and the oil supply. Present indications are that the oil supply and the oil market are likely to keep comfortably apace if the industry is intelligently handled and disrupting struggles between seliers and between sellers and buyers are eliminated.

Complacent, Jolly Manager Will Produce Plays of Excitement That Are Not Melodramas—Says Public Still Loves Romance, But That the "Melo" Is Over.

BY JULIAN JOHNSON

Charles King is the newest invader f the magic circle of local drama. King has the Grand Operahouse for five months, and will sing a different song than its devotees have heard lately. Song-birds go north in spring, and so Hartman's have flown—to reand so Hartman's have flown—to return in the fall.

In the meantime, King will strive to amuse with the drama of thrills.

"But for Heaven's sake, not the 'melo,'" explains King, marginally.

"The people have got onto "The Queen of the Oplum Ring,' The King of the Highbinders,' and 'Wedded but Parted.' I never did like 'em anyway, and now that the play a la Kremee is down, I say let's kill it, and put it out of its misery."

So King is going to give lively plays, plays with action and battles and feuds and rivalries and lots of love-making, but nix for good and all on "Curse you, Jack Dalton, give me the papers or I shall never give up the cheelid!"

King is a typical western product. He's fat, fair and a long ways this side of forty, and he's his own leading man.

I hate to do it," he said, apologet-

For downright honesty and manliness, can you beat it? No-more than that, can you equal it?

All of which, let me assure you, didn't come from King.

I asked him if it were true, to which he casually replied:

"Forget it! Forget it!"

And then he changed the subject.

Perhaps if King had known at that time that he was coming into Los Angeles so soon he would have held on to his pride and joy. However, I believe he is going to show us still another winner before his season is fairly under way. He says he has a surprise up his sleeve. And men who know King say that he's the greatest discoverer on record.

King has played the tanks, and he's proud of it.

Greatness grows up that way, you know. Otts Skinner, the foremost American actor—in point of character creating genius—occupied "Town Hall Tonight" for many weary years. He perfected the glorious art of Philippe Brideau in Squonktown, Bingville, Hodge-Podge and Perkins Corners.

a bill of six entirely new acts, a programme which on the whole is of most inviting appearance.

The new bill will be headed by the team of musical funmakers, Foster and Foster, who some months ago made a hit at this same theater with "The Volunteer Pianist."

Allen Doone, Irish singer and his company, presenting the Irish playlet "Sweet County Kerry," is another act that should prove popular with next week's audiences. Mr. and Mrs. Charles McCann have an out-of-therut playlet entitled "Uncle Charles of Charleston."

Lovers of good music will find mech to their liking in the Berlnis, vocalists of standard who render selections from the grand operas. Meirer and Mora, two English music hall artists who have a novel combination of songs, dancing and juggling, have proved a hit all over the circuit. This is their first appearance in this country.

Concluding the new bill will be Harry Escheller, known as "The Musical Rube." Mr. Bacheller has an original style of humor. A selection of comedy motion pictures will also be shown.

Next week she reappears at Covent Garden.

Rarely has a public been so unanimous in approving the appointment of a successor to a conductor long held in the highest esteem as in the case of the natural succession of Gabriel Plerné to the desk left vacant by Edouard Colonne's death. Though the final word has not yet been spoken, it is generally agreed that formal appointment is due the composer, who has substituted for Colonne at the majority, of this season's concerts in Paris Vincent d'Indy was one of the men suggested by interested friends, but he refused to allow his name to be put forward as a candidate for the position, and other prominent conductors have followed his example. The composer of "The Children's Crusade" is a favorite with both colleagues and public.

Tyler has a scheme in his head to take Tree over to New York for the last few weeks of the spring season in each year. Tree, as you know, has let His Majesty's to Thomas Beecham for operatic purposes from the beginning of May, and the agreement stands good for a number of years. Tree would thus be free to open in New York quite early in May. He would take with him on each occasion only ene production, say "The Merry Wives of Windsor" in 1911, "Richard II" in 1912, and so on, Personally, I am convinced there is a lot of money in Tree, provided he is preperly piloted. But he is rather apt to let his individual preferences run away with him, considering that, if he likes a part, the public ought to like him in it. Unfortunately, this does not necessarily follow. Recognition of the fact at an earlier stage of his career would nave saved Tree many thousands of dollars.

saved Tree many thousands of dollars.

Frohman and Bourchier have at length been forced to acknowledge the uselessness of trying to flog a dead norse into life. Consequently, they have decided to withdraw Somerset Maugham's latest play, "The Tenth Man," in a fortnight or three weeks' time. It is rather extraordinary now Bourchier, at any fate, persistentely shuts his eyes to box office indications, insisting, as he did to me only the other day, that "The Tenth Man" was the finest piece he had ever produced, and that, if the critics were to be believed, he himself had never been seen to better advantage. But "money talks," and as receipts were steadily on the downgrade, there is nothing for it but to take the piece off. It is to be followed by "The Honor of the Family"—although that tile will not be used—Paul Potter's adaptation of Emile Fabre's "La Rambouilleuse." I remember that the accounts which came over from New York at the time of its production there were not enthusiastically favorable to the piece, but the principal part, originally played by Otis Skinner, apparenty ought to give Bourchier an excellent chance. Prederick Sargent and Rosalie Dupré are to be seen in London in the parts created by them in New York; the cast otherwise will be composed of English artists. To speak quite frankly it certainly is not a brilliant cast, so if the play succeeds or falls, the result will be largely attributable to Bourchier himself. He by the way, is having a piece written for him by Harry Vernon, known hitherto as a writer for vaudeville, in which Bourchier will appear as a Chinaman, who, after passing some years in England to parfect his education, returns to his native country, and there, owing to his advanced ideas, contrives to give dire offense in certain influential quarters.

Marriage and Other High Class Stationery Requirements

I The Brock & Feagans watermark in Marriage Stationery represents an ideal —it identifies the highest quality paper the best mills of Europe and America can produce. It identifies paper that is distinctive, that is made especially for Brock & Feagans, and that cannot be secured

I The Brock & Feagans imprint is the final—the accepted proof of masterful execution. It marks the invitation or announcement on which it appears as the highest expression of the engraver's art.

These are all-important considerations for those who contemplate issuing marriage stationery—for the marriage occasion is the one supreme event that is worthy of all that is best.

To those who would avail themselves of this Brock & Feagans' marriage stationery service, we emphasize the importance of placing orders sufficiently in advance, as engraving of the Brock & Feagans character requires time in its execution. In urgent cases, however, orders may be executed on comparatively short notice.

The fact that Brock & Feagune confine all their diamond selections to absolutely perfect blue white and extra white stones eliminates all possibility of risk in purchasing gems here whether you are conversant with diamond values or not.

Announcement of the Opening of -Barker Bros. Studios-

—Devoted to The Production of Fine

Garden Pottery

and the Architectural Beautifying of Gardens and Homes

Recognizing the rapidly growing inclina-tion upon the part of owners of California homes to make their gardens more and more an out-of-door part of the home itself, and realizing the heretofore inadequate facil-ities afforded for the accomplishment of this purpose, we have just arranged for the opening of a special department to be devoted to this work, to be known as Barker Bros.' Stu-

In charge of two of the foremost experts of this class of work in America, H. C. and E. Mardon, formerly of New York and London, and working under the direction of our decorative specialist, Mr. F. H. Latimore, we are now prepared to produce garden pottery of the highest artistic character, including such pieces as Garden Benches, Tables, Statuary, Hermes, Fountains, Sun Dials, Flower Pots Vases, Pedestals Urns, Flower Boxes, Jardinieres etc. We shall now also be pre-pared to create the finest class of interior dec-orative work such as specially modeled plaster ceilings, and other interior and exterior architectural ornamentation.

AlterationSale Montgomery Bros Broadway & 4 % Sts.

An Honest Sale Based on Honest Reductions--and With an Honest Reason

Every price ticket in Montgomery Bros.' stock tells its story in plain figures The demand for a rapid and energetic reduction in our stocks is so insistent that we are obliged, for the sake of quick selling, to make very radical reductions, although we are positive that even at regular selling price our merchandise is marked lower than the same goods can possibly be bought for in any other store in California, quality considered.

We have leased one-half of our store and must immediately reduce our stocks to such a degree that we can give them proper showing in one-half the space we now occupy. Carpenters and masons will soon invade our premises. A quick sale is necessary, and for that purpose we have cut prices to where they touch, or nearly touch actual cost in a great many instances.

Montgomery Bros.' guarantee - Montgomery Bros.' integrity - Montgomery Bros, reliability govern every transaction during this Great Alteration Sale as thoroughly as this firm has been known to stand back of every transaction made by them for years past.

Special prices reign supreme practically throughout the store, and it will pay you well to come now or at any time during this sale and select anything wanted in any of our departments. You will be sure to find that you can buy whatever you want at a price below what you had expected to pay.

We will on various days throughout the sale announce special features from the different sections of our store; but want you to remember that practically

THE ENTIRE STOCK IS IN-CLUDED IN THIS ALTERA-TION SALE AT SPECIAL RE-DUCED PRICES.

Cut Glass

Our Cut Glass Room has been one of the show places of Los Angeles. The wares therein shown sparkle with a brilliancy, glisten with a sharpness, scintillate with a splendor that cannot be duplicated elsewhere on the Pacific Coast. Our Cut Glass is of the highest quality American manufacture. We especially suggest the contents of our Cut Glass Room as fitting gifts for weddings and other occasions.

It is impossible to list even a fair proportion of the articles offered, but judge from the following what great values you can now find here at small prices:

HIS special sale of Women's Suits in Light Woolens is an event of the greatest importance to every woman. The models offered represent the best ideas from our regular stock-including suits of every class. We have grouped them in three special lots, at the prices named above. Upon many the reductions are nearly a half, upon others a full half. And every suit offered at these selling prices is a value, the strength of which you yourself will recognize.

This sale must inevitably appeal to every woman. There are suits here to meet every requirement—whether you want a garment at a low price or something more expensive. All the light Summer materials are included, in severely plain tailored effects, as well as more dressy models. Colorings include light, pretty Summer shades—as well as a handsome assortment of blues and a fine showing of white suits.

All Summer long you will need a Wool Suit-you really cannot get along without it. This is your opportunity to secure it for below worth. Take advantage of it Monday—come expecting much in the way of assortments, style, tailoring and value—you will not be disappointed.

this cloak and suit manufacturer and were able to offer them at such a ridiculous price that they were snapped up almost before you could turn around. Then and there we spoke for his next surplus lot.

And they're here ready for a sale Monday, in a much better assortment than we had before. You see the materials are very wide. 50 to 56 in ches and while there is not enough in any one plece to make it practical for the manufacturer to make them up into suits, you'll find the lengths just what you need for different garments, many of them containing enough for complete suits.

—50 and 56-inch Novelty and plain suiting including wide wale diagonals and the advance Natte serge, Scotch mixtures, etc.

The assortment includes, gray, tan, black and white mixtures, white grounds with black stripes, reseds, navy, chamols, etc.

These are suitings that would sell at from $1.50 to $2.50 off the piece; you buy them at 59c yard.

Misses' Wash Dresses

We had a quantity of these dresses before and so remarkable were the values that, the 200 of them were sold within 48 hours after they arrived.

We wired for a second lot and they've just arrived. By comparison we believe they are even better than the last lot. Cleverest styles of linenette and percale in plain colors and neat figures.

They're piped with neat braid and trimmed with pearl buttons. Skirts are cut full. Remember these are distinct misses garments, sizes 14, 16 and 18. They'll be found in the separate department for misses, 2nd floor, center room.

Be sure to take advantage of this because it is only possible to secure such merchandise at long intervals.

ANTARCTIC PENGUINS. So Tame That Members of Shackleton's Party Would Play With the Birds.

[New Nork Tribune:] On his expedition south, Sir Ernest Shackleton be-came much interested in the penguins These are enormous birds, some of them over three feet tall, and they weigh from seventy to ninety pounds. Moreover, they preserve on all occa-sions a most solemn and dignified air as they walk slowly and erectly along. One night after his party had camped One night after his party had camped some of the penguins discovered the presence of intruders, and the next morning one of the birds strode slowly up, and, seeing a dog lying in front of the tent, solemnly stalked away, to return later with several of his companions. These inspected the dog until the latter was quite put cut of countenance and then departed, bowing to one another—Shackleton gives his word for it—as they went.

cenance and then departed, bowing to one another—Sha keleton gives his word for it—as they went.

The birds seemed to be quite tame, and one day, when there was a large assemblage of them near by, some members of the party got out a graphophone, put it on the ice near them and started it playing "Waltz Me Around Again, Willie." Lieut. Shackleton said the expressions of the penguins showed just how they felt about it. Two of them, evidently disapproving highly, departed early, while several others were so affected that they wept bird tears. The men had much fun with the birds and often amused themselves by giving them little shoves while they were on smooth ice and watching them topple over and their judicious attempts to regain their equilibrium.

Massage every morning and night. This is excellent for the face and arms, too, as it gives them a soft, delicate tint, and you do not have to use any powder.

Amy L.: They say borothol solution is the most wonderful discovery for eczema and all skin diseases. It is made by dissolving two ounces of borothol in a pint of hot water and adding two tablespoonfuls of glycerine. Apply on cotton to the affected parts. This will stop the itching instantly.

Miss L. Q:-To keep the hands and face soft and white, use after washing and drying a lotion made as follows: Dissolve the contents of a two-ounce package of amarol in a pint of hot water. You will not need to use any powder with the lotion, and you need have no fears of hair growing on the face and arms.

Emma K.: Infusion of Henna leaves is recommended for darkening the hair, but I never like to advise any one to change the natural color of their hair. No matter what dolor your hair is, you can make it look beautiful with a little care. Shampoo at least once a month with egg. Annette R.: The best known treatment and apply a tonic every day or so. Make the tonic yourself by mixing half a pint of alcohol with half a pint of water and adding one ounce of beta canthol.

Mrs. S.: Indigestion is responsible for more irritable, uncompanionable, grouchy dispositions than any other disease I know of. My druggist tells me that he has filled the following prescription hundreds of times, and says it should cure any case of indigestion—one ounce of compound theture of cinchona, prosens compound, one ounce, and sherry while half a pint. Get the ingredients and mix them together. Take a teaspoonful before each meal.

Mrs. A. O'S.: The best remedy I know of for tired, burning, sweaty feet is boro listor solution. Get an original ounce bottle of boro listor from your druggist. Dissolve in one and one-half pints of boiling water. When cold add half a pint of alcohol. Use two tablespoonfuls in foot bath every night.

Mrs. S. W.. Powdered delol will cer-tainly remove hair from the face and arms. Simply mix a little of the powder with enough warm water to make a soft paste. Smear over the hairy places. Leave on for about 2 minutes and wash off. The hair will come off and stay off for a long time.

Annette R.: The best known treatment for developing the busts is the Vaucaire treatment, but I would advise you to get the ingredients and make it up yourself. Get an original one-cunce bottle of gailod from your druggist. Make a plut of granulated sugar syrup, say half pound of sugar to pint of water, add the gailod and take two teaspoonfuls four times a day. Massaging with cocos butter or cerol cream will belp. The true gailod is quite expensive, but it is the only preparation I know of that will really do the work.

Gossip of Interesting People.

Mrs. Dora Montefiore.

ISPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, May 5.—"The men of America treat women too well to deny them anything. When the women here want suffrage the men will give it to them," was the declaration of Mrs. Dora B. Montefiore, who, as she said herself, is the only militant grandmother suffragette of England. She has just arrived in America from England, and will be in the country, until July, preaching the gospel of women's rights, telling the progress of the work in England and getting suffragettes to go to Washington and hope I may meet your President."

Mrs. Monteflore has the distinction of being among the first of England's suffragettes to go to prison.

I am feeling fine. Do I look good? Just washed my hair and put Herpicide on it. The worst thing about washing hair is that is it flyey and unmanageable. By using Herpicide Soap for shampooing and then applying Newbro's Herpicide you won't have any trouble. Herpicide allows it to dry quickly and the hair is just as light and fluffy as can be. You can do it up Herpicide is the finest thing for the hair I ever saw. It is not greasy, does not stain or destroy the natural oil. It is just right.

I believe Herpicide is a sanitary necessity to every woman's toilet. Besides being a most delightful dressing, it saves the hair—prevents it coming out. Loose hair in the comb is the sure sign of danger. The dandruff germ does that, kills the follicles and throws up the scarf-

Herpicide kills this germ, keeps the scalp clean and allows the hair to grow as it sh It makes beautiful hair-hair that has nice gloss and luster.

You can get a large bottle of Herpicide from your drugglet for a dollar. Use it as directed and if not satisfied, go back and get your money. The Company that makes Herpicide are so sure that it will do as they claim that they guarantee it.

If you have not read it, you should send for their book-"The Hair and its Care." It is sent to any one upon request. You can also get a nice big sample of Herpicide with the book by sending ten cents in postage stamps to The Herpicide Company, Dept. 29B., Detroit, Mich. The best barbers and hair dressers all recommend Newbro's Herpicide.

Prince Charlie, the heir to the throne, is seen leaning against a pillar. He is handsomely dressed in a satin suit and a lace collar. In spite of this finery, there is a somewhat sulky look on his handsome, healthy face. I am sure he was longing for the stupid picture-making to be over, so that he could have a good rown.

must have found very much in the way. He seems to be looking at his sister's attire with a good deal of interest.

Mary, although only a little girl, wears a long gown with a sweeping train. She has lace frills, too, and flowers in her pretty ourly hair.

You would be apt to think, from the demure expressions on their faces, that these little royalties were exceedingly good. I am sorry to say that they were quite as naughty, and as fond of mischlevous pranks as most little Americans are nowadays.

When Prince Charlie was eight, he was given an establishment and attendants of his own, and therewith began his troubles. Every day he had to go with his father to some stupid meeting of councilors or Parliament, and littlen for hours to some tiresome discourse. I am afraid, that more than once the little boy fell asleep.

As for Princess Mary, her favorite prank was to take out a small rosary, and kiss it behind the back of her Protestant tutor. The Queen, who was a good Catholic, and her priest smilled, and the maids-of-honor giggled outright, at which the good man must have been puzzled.

When lessons were over, you may be sure the little Stuarts had plenty of fun. Today in the gardens of Hampton Court, you may see nails and staples in a tree where Mary and her brothers once had a platform. This was their favorite nook, where they spent most of their lidle hours. Mary certainly deserved the title of tomboy. She could climb trees as well as her brothers, and do many other things which horrised her mother, stately Queen Henrietta Maria.

But these happy times were soon to end. Princess Mary was wedded to the young ruler of Holland, and went to live across the seas. She had an unhappy time enough of it in a country whose language she could not speak, and with a mother-in-law who was continually at war with her.

Meanwhile in England, King Charles's enough had effect un a revolution, and the park and with a mother-in-law who was continually at war with her.

late for me to come so far up on the hill." She gave her reasons very humbly, for Mother Coyote's voice had sounded almost as if she were offended. However, she agreed with Jean very good-naturedly.

"It has been hot," she said. "When these youngsters of mine are a little older we must be off to the mountains, I think. It is cooler there, and better hunting, too, in summer. But about the story," she went back abruptly, "why didn't you like it?"

"I don't know," confessed Jean, "unless it was because it made me feel sorry. Why did Metsi want people to grow oid and die? Just think! If he had let Man finish the road they could hall have been alive now. Why," she added as a sudden thought struck her, "we could have known them and they might have been sitting here with us this afternoon."

"Only we wouldn't have been here," observed Danny slyly. "You see if Man had finished the road the first people could have gone on living forever and there wouldn't have been need of any more. It was Metsi, you remember, who though of little boys and girls, so that they could grow up and take the place of the old people

Robert Henry, on his sixth birthday anniversary.

A very interesting programme was arranged of games, in connection with which prizes were awarded.

Later in the afternoon, the children merrily marched to the beautifully-decorated dining-room, where Robert's desired color scheme of pink and white was carried out, the center of the table bearing an elaborate birthday cake with six lighted candles. All the children announced they had the merriest kind of a tima. Those present were Robert Henry Berg, Owen W. Miles, Robert E. Julian, Marguerite Flemming, St. Clair E. McLaren, Helene E. Flemming.

"Poppy" is another proof of this contention. Why she should refuse assistance for her child, or why she should turn from her friends, is explained, not psychologically, but sentimentally. Her strange nobility in clinging to a rather fussy idealism at the expense of her child's welfare is another point on which I am still to be convinced. Toward the end of the be convinced. Toward the end of the book, where the author gets back to the straightaway complicated story and ceases trying to "develop" inter-nally her heroine, there is more inter-est, and certainly more truth. character under these trying circumstances. But women are never honest with themselves or with members of their own sex. Poppy, throughout the book, seems to me not so much the result of a woman's idea of what constitutes a noble woman. My contention has always been that women cannot, or rather will not, truthfully portray women in fiction. The matter is easily explainable. Bank presidents don't publish the combinations to their safe deposit vaults, nor do poker players ever show their hands until called. No woman writer would have painted Lilly Czepanek, or Mme. Harper & Brothers this week are putting to press five of Mark Twain's books, each for a 'large reprinting. They are "Life on the Mississippi," "Roughing It," "A Tramp Abroad," "Pudd'nhead Wilson" and "Sketches Old and New." The demand at the bookstores for these and other volumes by Mark Twain has increased greatly since his death. the great athletic center, offered by the Agricultural Park Commission, through its chairman, William H. Bowen, for the use of all schools for all phases of athletic sport.

An account of the meeting at which this tender was made was given exclusively in The Times of Tuesday morning, last.

Such a center will mean everything to the athletic organizations, which have been driven from one field to another, as it was possible to obtain a temporary abiding place. Not only the question of available spots, but also that of available spots, but also that of available finds with which to pay rentals of such poor places as were obtainable, has been a problem to those who were trying to forward the interests of school athletics.

The Salt Lake Orphans' Home and Home Finding Association is $2000 the richer by reason of the latest visit of Miss Maude Adams, the actress, and of Miss Maude Adams, the actress, and her company to the city of her birth. A $2000 check, the proceeds of a benefit performance, has been presented by Miss Adams to the charity, and it will reduce to $5000 the debt on the $50,000 home recently erected by the association. Miss Adams's engagement was also made memorable by gatherings of her childhood friends and relatives, and by resolutions of praise adopted in her honor by the city Council.

A most gracious philanthropy was inaugurated lately at Portland by the laying of the corner-stone of the Old people's Home. The generosity of the late P. J. Mann renders possible the establishment of the home with ample means. The site was donated by the Ladd estate, and the late Henry W. Corbett and others have been generous contributors to the runds of the home. The whole has been carefully conserved by Mrs. Mann, as president of the Old Ladies' Home Association, and, following out the wishes of her late husband, she will gupply whatever funds are needed to complete the work so auspiciously begun.

tages arising from conditions which would be wholly dependent upon its decision.

This committee feels that it has about reached the limit of its powers; and unless the people of Pasadena in general and the Board of Trade in particular are willing and anxious to push the enterprise to a conclusion, it recommends that this report be received and placed on file and the committee discharged.

This committee had its inception in the resolution quoted above, and it thinks that this report can well be taken up at the annual banquet of the Board of Trade, to be held on May 16, when probably more members of the board will be together than at any other time. Thus it will receive the attention which its importance deserves, and give to you and the directors of the Board of Trade a better understanding of the wishes of the members than can otherwise of the members than can otherwise the work of the power of the members than can otherwise of the members than can otherwise the work of the members than can otherwise the wholly dependent upon its powers.
